FOREST GLEN GWENDOLINE 5TH X

Sold to Avenel Farm at the top price of the 1953 International Polled Shorthorn Sale. Her full brother, Forest Glen Comet X is one of the herd sires in the herd of H.L. Fish-paw.

For more than 40 years The Shorthorn World has been recording the fact that members of the Shenandoah Valley Polled Shorthorn Breeders Association have been buying the best of breeding stock. Early in its history its leading members were buying the improving descendants of Knight of Collynie and White Hall Sultan. Today other leading members are carefully blending the blood of Kirkton Baronet, Calrossie Welcome and other great Shorthorn bulls. Always the goal has been to breed better Polled Shorthorns.

That success has crowned their efforts many times, is proven by the many great show and breeding animals that have been produced in their herds. Winners at the International, class winners and Congress champions all have been bred and used by members of this association.

Possibly the greatest contribution to the improvement of Polled Shorthorns by members of this association is its Annual Sale. Here other herds both large and small can purchase seed stock backed by carefully selected cow herds and sired by some of the best bulls of the breed.

We believe that selections from this sale will help you to attain your goal - BETTER POLLED SHORTHORNS.

OAKWOOD HISTORIAN x - At $2000., Historian was the second top selling bull in the 1952 Oakwood Sale. He has been in service at Tujays ever since, and those who have watched our progress know he has done an outstanding job. He sired the winning pair of calves, the Junior Champion Bull at Maryland and the Reserve Junior Champion Bull at Virginia in horned competition in 1956. He sired the Reserve Grand Champion female in 1955 Maryland State Fair. We are now replacing him with a red son which we believe to be the heaviest boned polled bull we've ever seen. We also have quite a few daughters and this limits his use. Here is an unusual chance to buy at your own price a tried and proven bull of known quality.
